EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES OF THE MODULE

EDUCATIONAL GOALS

MODULE OF PRIVATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW

The course's objectives consist in the study of a large part of Italian Private Law, also in light of the rising European private law. In particular, the course aims to investigate the areas of legal subjectivity, pecuniary and non-pecuniary legal situations, goods and real estate, obligations and credit protection, the contract as a general category, the main typical and atypical contracts, contracts between consumers and professionals, and business contracts, remedies with special regard to tort liability, and the judicial protection of rights. The following subjects will also be analysed: the characteristics of the legal phenomenon in relationships between individuals; natural and legal persons; subjective legal positions; goods, property and real estates; instruments of legal circulation; the effects of these tools, with specific regard to obligations and real effects; contract law, typical and atypical contracts; remedies; warranties of property and related remedies; the burden of proof and means of evidence; limitation period and forfeiture.
