EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES OF THE MODULE

Educational goals of the course

The Corporate Strategy course for the Post-graduate degree in Entrepreneurship and Management focuses on the strategic aspects underlying the fundamental choices that pertain specifically to top managers within corporations. In general, a firms' strategy is the result of strategic choices which find a limitation in the amount of financial resources available and a performance criteria in the capacity to create value. In this sense, strategy is conceived as a system of managerial initiatives aimed to consent the firm to gain superior performances vis-a-vis their competitors and create value. Students are urged to reason on and comprehend the main theoretical and practical aspects of these broad themes.

Though the course is not formally divided into modules and maintains a fundamentally unitary logic, it is possible to distinguish two parts of the syllabus which include homogeneous topics. The first part concerns the options available to managers in order to create value at the corporate level, the systemic nature of corporate strategy and the nexus between internal and external variables, the relationship between strategy, governance and finance and the economic and financial strategy of the firm. The second part of the course will be dedicated to a limited set of strategies available to top managers. The strategies considered include both more consolidated and more recent ones. In particular, the strategies treated include: diversification and integration; alliance creation and management; M&As, co-opetition, and the international expansion of the firm
